NORAH ANENA FOUNDATION

ANNUAL REPORT

2017

As we end the year 2017, we would like to send our warm greetings and love to the entire US team. We are grateful for all your effort towards the NAF family and communities. The following activities occurred during the course of the year 2017.

Academics

In term one most of the results were pleasing however term two results were not as we expected therefore some few who didn't perform well in term two were advised on the basic learning/reading skills together with the rest and they did better in their final term. All our students (except one) were promoted and most of them (six) are joining candidate classes.

We also had holiday programs that involved tutoring for students especially those in senior three during the holidays. We are hopeful that these coaching sessions supplemented their learning in class and improved their performance.

The figure below is the summary of the end of year result.

Discipline

This year, we had no indiscipline cases concerning of our students or from their parents. However, we had minor issues with a few students regarding usage of money meant for requirements. Fortunately we were able to resolve these issues and come to a mutual understanding. High moral and character standards remain a top priority for NAF in addition to solid academics, thus we are hopeful our students will continue to be successful in this area as well.

Registration of NAF

We started the registration process and have submitted our application form to Secretary National NGO Board for verification as we wait to check on the feedback on February 22nd 2018. Hopefully we shall start 2018 with our registration certificate.

School fees and other requirements

Based on our students' circular, most of the schools have added UNEB REGISTRATION FEES into the school fees (applicable only to candidate classes of which we have six). This requires fees to be cleared in term one, though the increment varies from school to school.

Below is the projected tuition fees requirement for our students who will be reporting for the next academic term.

Other requirement figures include registration fees for their final Exams

Personal/Student's requirements not included in this projection

CHALLENGES

We are happy that the year ended well though we had some few challenges as indicated below:

- In ordinary level, there was poor performance in science subjects termly. Based on our termly students' progress report, most of the students are requesting for holiday tutoring and text books in such areas.
- Some parents failed to provide the basic scholastic materials for their children which affected them a lot during the course of their term at school.
- There are some students who rely too much on teachers' notes; they don't involve themselves in personal reading/research.
- There have been some difficulties in getting tutors for science subjects.

Recommendations

Based on what we have experienced this year, and based on the student progress notes plus their results, we shall be pleased to have some science text books for the NAF students which shall be shared interchangeably among all our students.

Conclusion

As the year ends, we are looking forward to a have some one on one discussion with our students and their parents next year in early January scheduled for the 8th and 9th to hear from them and discuss more on how we can combine our efforts to help our students in 2018.

We are so grateful for the tireless effort, financial, and material support accorded to our students and NAF-Uganda office during the course of this year. May God continue protecting and blessing the fruit of your hand. We wish you and the entire US-NAF team and friends a Merry Christmas and a happy new year.
